THE PRESIDENT IN BOSTON. Boston, June 16 .- President Grant arrived here this merning and breakfasted at the St. James Hotel.

[Second Dispatch.] President Grant left his hotel this morning under escort of a corps of cavalry and the Legislature committee and arrived at the State House about 11 o'cleck. An immense number of people greeted him on the route. Secretary Boutwell, Admiral Farraggt and Governor Chamberlain were in the Presidential party. On reaching the State House the President was formally introduced to Governor Claffin.

who welcomed him in a speech.

The President replied:—"It affords me great pleasure to visit the capital of a State which has done so much for my support, and for the support of the Union in the time of the great re bellion-a State whose principles did so much to give me whatever political position I have attained, and a State where I have received such hearty welcome in other days."

THE CANVASS IN TENNESSEE. Brownlow's Change of Base-Stokes and Senter.

[Special Dispatch to The Star.] CINCINNATI, June 16 .- New excitement is given to the canvass in Tennessee by the letter of Gov. Brownlow, published in all the Tennessee papers, in favor of universal suffrage. It is very positive and dogmatic in tone. He holds that the necessity for disfranchisement no longer exists, that the recent decision of the Supreme Court of Tennessee has shorn the disfranchising clauses of the State constitution of much of their strength, and that for the Republicans of Tennessee to continue the restrictive policy. When the party everywhere else opposes it, is mischievous and ridiculous. He winds up with a declaration of renewed faith in the Re publican organization, and a reprobation of both the policy and practice of the Democratic

On Monday Senter and Stokes spoke jointly at Knoxville. Senter advocated a constitutwo years for adoption by the Legislature, and which would enfranchise all. Stokes recommended a constitutional convention and au amendment, requiring for each a two-thirds vote of the Legislature-the enfranchising to begin by January next if possible, but to be completed gradually, as the disfranchised showed themselves worthy. The sympathies of the crowd were with Stokes.

The vocalenunciation as clear as that of a church choir At the close the andience testified its appreciation by long continued applause. The overture to "Tannhauser" was then performed by a select orchestra of six hundred musicians, under the direction of Julius Eichburg. It was conceded to be a success, eliciting rounds of applause. "Glory to God on High," from Mozart's Twelfth Mass, was rendered by a full chorae with orchestral and organ accompani-ment, under the direction of Carl Zerraho Gounord's Are Mana was then sung by Pareps Rosa. The violin obligato was performed by two bundred violins, led by Ole Bull, under two bendred violins, led by Ole Bull, under the direction of Mr. Gilmora. Parepa's solo was heard in all parts of the building. The next selection was "The Star Spangled Banner," which introduced the whole chorus, the organ, and the entire force of musicians, together with the chiming of the church bells and the firing of amiliery. This was one of the greatest features of the day and was a grand success. The audience, after joining in the chorns to the last verse, rose on masse in a state of high patriotic excitement, and it was reof high patriotic excitement, and it was re-peated with renewed energy and harmony. After the intermission, the Hymn to Peace.

After the intermission, the "Hymn to Peace," written by Dr Holmes, to the music of Keller's "American Hymn," was sung by the whole chorus, and was enthusiastically encored. The overture to "Witham Tell" followed, and Parepa Rosa then sang the "Inflammatus," from the "Stabat Mater," the responses being given by the chorus, with accompaniment of organ and full orchestra. The "Coronation March" was well received. The "Auvil Chorus" was given by the emure force with one hundred anvils. The accompaniment created intense enthusiasm, the audience demanding a repetition, which was given. The mational air, "My Country, "its of Thee," was the last piece, and was sung by the full chorus with all the accompaniments, including the organ, entire orchestra, big drum, chimes, and artillery. It was the crowning success of the day. The auditors etded on their seats and shouted, and made extraordinary demonstrations. The last verse was repeated, and the entire audience joined in. With this ended the proceedings of the first day.

THE PRIZE RING. THE ALLEN-McCOOLE FIGHT.

Nine Rounds in Twenty Minutes—Shocking Brutality — McCoole Badly Beaten— Disgraceful Conduct of the "Sports." The fight between McCoole and Allen took place yesterday at Foster's Island, about wenty miles down the river below St. Louis. Jerry Bonavan and Tom Kelly acted as seconds for McCoole. Pat. Riley, of New York, and Sherman Thurston were seconds for Allen. Jack Leoney, of St. Louis, was umpire for McCoole; Ephraim Holland, of Cincinnati, for Allen, and McKinney referee. Both men presented a fair appearance, and Allen much the best. McCoole's friends were much disappointed at his condition, he being fat and showed unskillful training. More than usual interest attached to the fight from the fact that the question of nationality was involved in the the question of nationality was involved in the contest, and that both men entered the arena for other than mercenary motives.

"Mike" McCoole, as he is popularly called by his triends, is about 3! years of age, and was born at Ballabufay the County of Donegal. in the north of Ireland, from which place he emigrated to this country when a young man, and after remaining for a very short time in New York, went Westward to seek his fortune. He soon engaged on board one of the lower Missis soon engaged on board one of the lower Mississippi steamers as a deck-hand, and continued in their employ for some years. About ten years ago Mike entered the "ring," fighting Bill Blake or "Dublin Tricks." June 27, 1859, whom be vanquished. He then fought Tom Jennings. of New Orleans, 2d May, 1861, and whipped him. Tried to get on a match with Heenan, but was prevented by the latter's circus enbut was prevented by the latter's circus engagemerts. He next met Joe Coburn, 1861, at Havre-de-Grace and was defeated, as his friends claim by a "foul." He was victor in a fight with Bill Davis, in September, 1866, for the champion's belt, and the following year defeated Aaron Jones. He then challenged Coburn to meet him, but the police interfered, and both men were aarested and imprisoned for thirty days in an Indiana in McCoole for thirty days in an Indiana jail. McCoole now determined to leave the ring, and married and resolved to settle down, but his friends importuned him so hard to give Allen a trial that he at last consented. McCoole is a very quiet and inoffensive man in good lookers portuned him so hard to give Allen a trial that he at last consented. McCoole is a very quiet and inoffensive man, is good looking, with broad shoulders. He stands 6 feet 1½ inches, and measures 46 inches around the breast.

Mike's opponent, Tom Allen, is a stranger in this country, having arrived here but a year ago from England, where he was born—in Birmingham, 1840. Very soon after his arrival he had a fight with Gallagher, and was knocked out of time in the second round, and lost the fight. Previous to this he whipped Bill Davis. He stands five feet ten inches and a quarter in his stockings. He considers himself in good fighting condition at one hundred and sixty-three pounds. He fought in England twelve pitched battles, and was defeated in but one—that by Posh Price, in July, 1862. In March, 1867, fought a "draw" with Joe Goss, both men being so exhausted as to be anable to finish the fight. After being defeated by Gallagher, in this country, he expressed his lagher, in this country, he expressed his anxiety to have a set-to with some of the big guns"—Heenan, Coburn, or McCoole, but seemed especially to desire an encounter with the latter, in which heat last succeeded. Allen is a powerful man—not so much as McCoole however; is broad-shouldered and wiry. He is possessed of considerable plack and any amount of endurance, and is a skillful and scientific boxer. The men entered the ring at a quarter to two o'clock, but fighting did not commence until some time after. McCoole won the choice of ground and offered to bet Atlen $2,000. Allen made a speech, saying that he was an English man, had no money and could not accept McCoole's offer, but asked for fair play. The men then went to work with the following re-First Round-The men approached each other cautiously, but with confidence. A few exchanges, and then hasty hitting at close quarters. Finally McGoole planted a heavy blow near Allen's eye, knocking him down. The first knock-down and first blood were claimed for McGoole although him down. claimed for McCoole, although blood appeared on both faces. Second-Allen punished his antagonist very severely; and from that time it was evident that McCoole was no match for him.

Third-McCoole lost all control of himself, became angry, and fought wildly, and to the end of the battle was at the mercy of Ailen.

Fourth-McCoole came to the scratch with his face bleeding profusely from a terrible gash under his right eye. Allen fought cautiously, evidently husbanding his st ength. McCoole got in heavily on Allen's ribs. The latter went down to avoid further punishment. The wildest excitement now began to prevent The wildest excitement now began to prevail.

Fifth—Heavy fighting throughout, there were desperate exchanges, during which Alien got in two or three terrific blows on McCoole's face, which seemed to be a mass of blood from the forehead to the chin. He had terrible gasbes under both eyes, and his face was terribly disfigured. The combatants clinched, and after a desperate struggle both went down to-gether near the ropes. This round was decid-edly in favor of Allen.

Sixth—Heavy hitting. Allen seemed freshest of the two and looked very complacent, dancof the two and looked very complacent, danging around his opponent with ease. Aftersome sharp fighting the round resulted in his favor. Seventh—McCoole presented a forforn appearance and was not very rapid in responding to time. After looked fresh and cheerful. After some exchanges of a not very satisfactory character to McCoole, Aften decided to go to grass to escape another of those terrific blows. Eighth—The backers of McCoole urged him to make short work of his opponent, but in vain, for the prestige of the giant was rapidly being demolished before the superior skill and tactics of his antagonist. Mike struck out wildly with his right but missed his mark, his opponent lighting on his potato-trap with teropponent lighting on his potato-trap with ter-rible effect. McLoole received severe punish-ment in this round. It became evident that the light would come to a speedy termination, the giant being knocked partly off his pins, which terminated this round, Alien looking bland and serere at the close.

Ninth and last round—Both men were slow in responding to the call, the hoise and excitement being intense; the referee could not be heard. The combatants approached each other and engaged in terribly close quarters. In a few seconds they chucked and rolled over side by side and in close conflict. While both were hugging mother earth Allen placed his hands upon the eyes of McCoole, gonging them desperately, when the cry of foul was raised from Allen's corner. The ropes were cut and the wildest excitement prevailed for a few mo-ments, but the crowd soon after dispersed towards the beat. The referee was afraid to give his decision. Several pistols were presented at his head, but he refused to decide the matter until he reached St. Louis. Alien outfought McCoole all the way shrough, and to all ap pearances would have won the fight if it had been allowed to proceed. McCoole was much blown and hadly punished, and was in reality whipped. The fight lasted about twenty min-

The general opinion of those present at the fight who are competent to judge is that there was neither a foul blow struck nor any goaging done by Allen. The prevalent belief is hat McCoole and his friends determined from the outset that Allen should not win the fight nor get the money. It is freely said that McCoole and his friends acted in a most shameful manner, displaying knives and pistols, with a view of mumidating Allen, and otherwise showing that they intended to have everything their own way. their own way.

It is stated that the rope was cut as early as the sixth round, but as Allen was evidently master of the situation neither he nor his friends made a point of it. When the ropes were cut, in the last round. McCoole's friends crowded into the ring, with d knives dra pistols and knives drawn, and demanded of the referee a decision in the giant's favor.

It is stated that the referee will publish his decision in the St. Lonis papers; that he Mickenny) was afraid to decide in the ring against a foul for fear of being killed on the spot. There seems to be no doubt that the reservation of the decision was made because it is favorable to Allen, and the object is to give McConny time to leave town and escape the vengence of McCoole and his friends.
